

Kayla Patrick

Kayla Patrick is one of Edmonton's newest singer/songwriter recording artists. At the age of 14 she released her second album "I'm Your Biggest Fan". With a voice well beyond her years, she's garnered an enthusiastic fan following and continues to impress the music industry with her style and grace on stage.

At this year's CCMA open stage, artist managers were handing out their cards after a riveting performance of her talents. Kayla's fan base stretches throughout North America and Europe, and continues to grow thanks to social media sites like YouTube, MySpace and Facebook.

Kayla has been singing since the age of three and entertaining crowds throughout Alberta for the past five years. She found her love for Country Music after competing in the local Country Vocal Spotlight Talent Show in 2002 and hasn't looked back since.

Kayla has many awards to her credit which include First Place Gold medal winner in the Edmonton City Wide Talent show, First Place winner in the 2006 Junior Division Country Vocal Spotlight, Female Entertainer of the Year, Female Vocalist of the Year and Co-writer of the year which she shared with her dad for writing "My Heart's Beating Country" at the North American Country Music Association International Competitions in Pigeon Forge Tennessee USA in March of 2007. Kayla sings a variety of Classic Country Music as well as original material. In 2007 Kayla released "My Heart's Beating Country".

Kayla's second CD, "I'm Your Biggest Fan" includes seven original songs and five of her favourite Classic Country covers. A single from her new album was released to radio in 2011.
